Are you the sloppy type who constantly drop your breakfast egg on your tie or skirt? No worries. If this new Swedish invention keeps its promises you can spill any tricky stuff you want on your clothes – ketchup, coffee, wine, lingonberry jam, even oil if you're repairing your car.

Stay Dry is a biologically degradable agent that you spray on your clothes to make it easier to clean them, according to manufacturer Silanex. It protects against damp and prevents dirt sticking or penetrating materials such as textiles, leather and skin. TS
